

I am quite dismayed that you are considering overturning New Jersey's Do Not Call Law. Since I signed up for the NJ State list, the incidence of these annoying calls has stopped completely. When I was just signed up for the Federal list, I still received calls from time to time.

There are plenty of other annoying ways that businesses can get there messages to people: Print ads, radio and television commercials, advertising at movie theaters are just some that leap to mind. Let people live in peace at home -- keep New Jersey's Do Not Call Law just the way it is.

Thank you.
